

SCARED FREEDOM

LOCKDOWN INDIA V/S UNLOCK INDIA

The present scenario in whole world is revolving around CORONA VIRUS or commonly known as COVID-19. It has been a hard year to begin with, we lost many pure souls and all around the world there is an afraid generation. Afraid about their lives, future, career and what not. While all this is happening India's situation is in dilemma. People or the government cannot figure out whether to continue lockdown or unlock India.

The coronavirus cases were soaring high and with each passing day, records kept increasing. The administrators had to put restriction on the social activities i.e. 'LOCKDOWN'. Lockdown in India started on 23rd March 2020. Nearly all activities and factories were suspended. There were many activities conducted nationwide to aware people to stay positive and optimistic in this stressful situation. While on the other hand 'UNLOCK' was also surfacing in the discussion, administrators were concerned that in this lockdown the numbers did not come under control and the situation was pretty much relaxed, yet they couldn't really trust our generation that if they would keep practicing social distancing and would they keep their safety first.

Till date there has been about 4 phases of lockdown and 2 phases of unlock all over the country, while all the safety measures are being taken place the situation of covid – 19 is still intact and dangerous. India in lockdown or unlocked, the people, citizens have to ensure and prioritize their safety and understand the importance of prevention. The youth now has to take a stand for positivity. It doesn't matter if a country is in lockdown or unlocked, what matters is the participation and unity of citizens to fulfill their duties to nation, government, their own family and ancestors.
